CSS Best Practices

External Stylesheets:

Place your CSS code in external .css files and link to them in your HTML using the <link> element. This promotes code reusability and separation of concerns.

Consistent Naming Conventions:

Use a consistent naming convention for CSS classes and IDs.

CSS Comments:

Comment your CSS code to explain the purpose of different rules and sections. Well-commented code is easier to maintain and collaborate on.